Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-7	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations1. Reference is made to the following document:

D2: DE 37 22 344 A (RAUSCH & PAUSCH) 19 January 1989
(1989-01-19)

2. Novelty (PCT Article 33(2))

Document D2, which is considered the closest prior art, discloses a controllable magnetic valve from which the subject matter of claim 1 differs in that the cylindrical housing has radially oriented apertures designed such that said apertures are closed when the first sealing body is placed in a stop position in its first seal seat or in the immediate vicinity of the first seal seat, and in that said apertures are open when the first sealing body is placed in the opposite stop position. Therefore, the subject matter of claim 1 is novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

3. Inventive Step (PCT Article 33(3))

The problem to be solved by the present invention can thus be seen as that of preventing leaks in a connection flowing to the apertures when the first sealing body is placed in the opposite stop position. The solution proposed in claim 1 of the present application involves an inventive step (PCT Article 33(3)) because a person skilled in the art cannot derive it in an obvious way from document D2.

4. Claims 2-7 are dependent upon claim 1 and thus likewise satisfy the PCT requirements with respect to novelty and inventive step.
5. Industrial Applicability (PCT Article 33(4))

The subject matter of claims 1-7 can be made and used within the meaning of PCT Article 33(4).
